With the Future of Local Areas

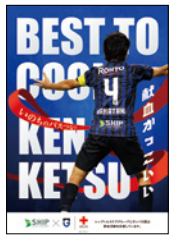

SHIP HEALTHCARE Group has engaged in activities in local areas including volunteer cleanup activities and maintenance and management of public facilities since its establishment. We will continue to engage in activities which contribute to regional development with appreciation for local communities and a strong sense of responsibility as a corporate citizen.

Support for Blood Donation Awareness Campaigns

Blood donation in the Company

The Group participates in the "Inochi no Pass Project" in collaboration with the Osaka Red Cross Blood Center and Gamba Osaka. As the number of blood donors declines, particularly among younger people, we communicate the importance of blood donation through posters and awareness activities and support community efforts that connect and sustain lives. To ensure a stable supply of blood for people facing illness or injury, we will continue working with partner companies and organizations to broaden understanding of and participation in blood donation.

Comprehensive Management of Suita City's Schools and Childcare Facilities

The Group provides comprehensive management services for 84 facilities operated by Suita City, including elementary and junior high schools and childcare facilities. Drawing on our expertise in facility management, meal services and security, we help maintain safe and secure educational environments. We support settings in which children can learn and grow in good health while working with the local government to improve the quality of public services.

Supporting Parasports

Our subsidiary, SAKAI Medical Co., Ltd., acts as an official supplier for various parasports organizations, including the Japan Boccia Association. We provide equipment for conditioning, training and motion analysis while promoting inclusive social activities through employee participation in parasports events and volunteering.

Enhancing the Appeal of Local Communities and Creating Well-Being

Guided by our mission of "Creating environments for medical professionals," we apply knowledge cultivated in medical and nursing care to develop Well-Being businesses from the perspectives of not only "protecting lives," but also "protecting nature" and "nurturing communities." Managing parks and public spaces is one way we contribute to local communities.
In Suita City, we have led projects to enhance Esaka Park, Esaka Library and Momoyama Park since 2022. By integrating the use of the parks, library and café, holding the Well Being ESAKA community event, and conducting cleanup and greening activities, we help create a community where multiple generations can interact and generate new vibrancy. We also contribute to Well-Being-oriented community development by sponsoring the Kento Relay Marathon to promote health and interaction and supporting Santa Parade Osaka, a charity event that brings smiles and hope to children.
In July 2026, we began managing and operating the Kyoto Botanical Gardens, Japan's oldest public botanical garden. In a consortium led by the Group, we are responsible for improving visitor services, collaborating with the community and operating events. Through plant conservation, learning support and greater understanding of biodiversity, we are creating new value that connects nature with people and people with their communities. We also participate in the designated management of Nakanoshima Park and Nakanoshima Sports Ground. At Nakanoshima Park, which reopened after renovation in September 2026, we are working to create new vibrancy and promote interaction among residents. We will continue using parks and public facilities as Well-Being hubs that support health, connection and learning and contribute to sustainable local communities.
